Joining the firm as a Shareholder in 2024, Robin brings a broad expertise to the Family & Collaborative Law Group. She has over a decade of handling family law matters, including divorce, premarital agreements, property distribution, support, local and international custody cases, protections from abuse, grandparents' rights, juvenile dependencies, and adoptions, amongst others. She devotes a portion of her practice to representing incapacitated people, family members, and healthcare providers in the complex specifics of guardianships and commitments, as well as elements of estate planning, elder law and Orphans' Court cases.

Oftentimes lending her expertise to podcast episodes and at varied speaking engagements, Robin has become well-known throughout the region as a go-to in family law and estate related matters. She has been named as a Pennsylvania Super Lawyer since 2022.

Robin expanded her growing knowledge of business law to accommodate the ever-changing social media dynamic. In this growing niche, she has managed brand partnerships for social media content creators by preparing and reviewing promotional contracts, facilitating communication between talent and stakeholders and providing administrative support.
